Dear Friends,

Hope lies at the core of what all parents feel for their children, hope for the kinds of friends they will make, hope for the kinds of things they will accomplish, hope for the kinds of individuals they will become, hope for the kinds of lives they will live. I want to thank you for allowing Washington Christian Academy to share in the hopes you have for your children.

On November 1, we will begin accepting applications for enrollment and reenrollment. In 2009-2010, WCA enjoyed a large increase in students and we anticipate similar growth for 2010-2011. Our first open house of the year was well-attended and we already have new families making application for the fall of 2010. To secure your child's spot for next year, I encourage you to reenroll early. Enclosed you will find all of the information needed to complete that process.

One of my favorite books is Oh, The Places You Will Go! by Dr. Seuss. In his inimitable way, Dr. Seuss talks to young men and woman about the ups and downs, the joys and sorrows, the anticipated and the unexpected things that happen in life and he ends it with a beautiful expression of hope for their future. The hope we share for our children is reflected in the wonderfully idiosyncratic language of Dr. Seuss, but it is founded in the character, promises and sovereignty of God. Their future, and ours, rests in his hands. There is no better place to be.

Thank you again for the privilege of being a part of your family and we look forward to continuing our partnership with you. We are committed to standing arm-in-arm with you, working, praying, laughing, and finally rejoicing together as we see our hopes for our children become realities.

Peace,

Larry Danner
